the trip from Richmond to Chase City and carries all the "commuters," who live along the Southern between here and Keysville, had a mishap yesterday morning on its way to Richmond. When the train was coming around a curve near Watkins' siding, between Hallsboro and Dry Bridge, one, of the axies under the tender of engine No. 1875 broke in two, the detached wheel went down the embankment and the dragging axle on the crossties admonished the engineer that something was wrong. The train was stopped in time to prevent a serious accident and the working train engine which happened to be at Midlothian brought the accommodation to Richmond. There was a delay of something over three hours.

Much Married, will have their last opportunity of sitting at the feet of these clever entertainers. The company has made a great record and has filled the theatre at every performance given at night, while the matiness were the largest in the history of the theatre. It is not often that a company comes to Richmond so little known as the Al. Haynes Co, and steps at once into the popular favor and no company could possibly do it except by force of sheer merit. The large audiences of the week past testify more eloquently than press notices to the capability and charm of this organization that has set the ball rolling for what promises to be a brilliant, if brief, summer season.

ISIX YEARS AND NO RAIN

Wonderful Good Luck of Peninsula Fair Association.

RACE MEETING CLOSED

This Year Has Been Best in History of the Association, and Best Racing Since Lamp Girl's Day Was Witnessed.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) TASLEY, VA., August 7 .- The largest crowd for a last day in the history of the association assembled at the Peninsula Fair to-day, the attendance being about 4,000. This association has been most for unate in having had fairs for six years. and never a rainy day. The attendance has increased every year, this year being the baner one. The crowd on Thursday of on the Virginia Eastern Shore.

on the Virginia Eastern Shore.

Every race during the fair was won in straight heats, but the racing was the best ever witnessed here, except during the Lamp Girl reign. The races to-day were very interesting, especially the 250 trot. There was more money bet on this race than on any during the week. The fudges thought Harding, the driver of Burseretta, was not driving to win, so they removed him in the third heat, and put Charles Atkinson up. During the first half of the third heat at this arangement seemed to work, as the mare carried Dean Asley to the half in 1:11, but she commenced to break, then finished last le slow time. There was a great howl, as many thought she was hitched up to break loose. The Eastern Shoremen had much money on her as she was originally owned here, and is out of the same mare as Stella 2:24, the only horse that ever beat Lamp Girl here. She now belonging to Nelson Brothers, Richmond, and is by Burser, the sire of Gold Burr, 2:131-4, and Burser, the sire of Gold Burr, 2:131-4, and Ida Gray 2:191-4. ing during this season.

In the last heat of this race Russell Rex was a strong second, and stood a good show of winning, when the sulky tire came off at the reven-eights pole, and the driver had to stop him. Jack Breneton won the 2:32 trot with case in his second race this week. Some ladies three some roses on him after his victory.
